THE KNOW HOW COMPANY

Stocker Group, The Know How Company, is an international consulting company with offices in Chile, Brazil, Colombia, Peru and Switzerland. We provide integrated solutions in the field of Knowledge Management, Risk Management and the implementation of Corporate Social Responsibility. These services are supported by technological applications developed to meet the needs of each project or organization.

Our firm has a solid experience in the implementation of large and complex projects in Latin America, which include all the previous components. Knowledge grows in an organic and exponential way and knowledge represents value. That is why our projects include a strong component of training, team building and even organizational change to ensure that the client organization can manage its know-how autonomously.

Not only have we implemented Risk Management projects and specialized Knowledge Management networks, we also have a lot of work experience in the implementation of various sector development projects involving Mining, Agriculture and other business throughout Latin America and Europe. From our focus as a private company, we are highly aware of the importance that commercial, environmental and social aspects have for our clients.

Our experience includes consultancy and support for profit and non-profit networks, enabling the conditions for an efficient collaboration and the best use of existing resources. We also assist our clients in applying the principles of triple bottom line as an addition of social and environmental values to the traditional economic measures of a corporation or organization's success. In today's world companies, governments and NGO's are exposed to an enormous diversity of cultures, expectations and values. The implementation of Corporate Social Responsibility programs and Knowledge Management are services that the Stocker Group offers to its clients in more than 10 countries.

Stocker Group has built an international team dedicated to meeting our clients' needs as they respond to new demands from stakeholders and changes in their business operating environment. Issues such as community outreach, sustainable development, social and economic development and its impacts are becoming real business factors and the Management of these risks is crucial to success. There are growing expectations of NGOs, communities, governments and investors, that companies manage its impact on and interaction with society in a responsible way and contribute to sustainable development.

Today Knowledge- and Risk Management are not an option but a business need. While traditional Risk Management has focused on tangible, measurable risk, social risk is often intangible and left unmanaged. This can damage the business's reputation, physical operations and finally the Return on Investment. This is why the Stocker Group works at the corporate or strategic level to identify the social implications of any business activity.

Thanks to a multicultural experience combined with our expertise in technology the Stocker Group has successfully implemented projects in over 12 countries in Latin America, working with international companies and organizations.

Some of our clients are: Precious Woods, Syngenta, Amanco, GrupoNueva, VIVA Trust. On the other hand, we have also worked successfully with international organizations as the World Bank Group, The United Nations, The Inter-American Development Bank and the Swiss Government Secretary of Economy and Commerce.
